Paramedic

Why become a Paramedic?

Paramedics are highly-trained emergency medical technicians who are qualified to perform a range of medical treatments and life-saving procedures. If you are thinking about a career in healthcare and emergency medicine, and enjoy a fast-paced work environment, you might want to consider a career as a paramedic.

As a paramedic you'll have the opportunity to make a positive impact in someone's life and your community every day. Paramedics provide basic and advanced life support level care, administer medications, and rescue victims from vehicle entrapments and other hazardous environments.
